Position:
The graduate assistant for history will work under the supervision of faculty who are teaching large sections of either HIST 1112 World History 2 or HIST 2110 U.S. Comprehensive Survey courses required in the core curriculum.

Responsibilities:
Supervision of graduate assistants includes providing appropriate training prior to and during the assistants' assumption of responsibility for assigned tasks. Although the specific tasks required of a graduate assistant in History are defined by the supervising faculty, the graduate assistant is required to attend the course lectures regularly, hold regular office hours to consult with students from the class, grade student exams, and regularly consult with the supervising faculty about matters related to the course or students. Other tasks can include (but are not limited to) taking student attendance, recording student grades, setting up audio/visual equipment, or giving a lecture.

Required Qualifications:
- A bachelor’s degree
- “Regular” admission into an approved Georgia Southern graduate program
- Professionalism, motivation, and willingness to learn
- Enrolled full-time as defined by graduate program (9 credit hours in spring semester)

Preferred Qualifications:
- Bachelor’s degree with a major or minor in History
- Admission into a Georgia Southern graduate program in History or Liberal Arts

Stipend:
$4,000 and a tuition waiver for the spring semester (January – May) 2018. Possible consideration for a History graduate assistantship for the 2018-2019 academic year.
